Think the Military is the only place you can get free training?

Do you believe that the only way you can work for the public health and safety is to become a Doctor?

Do you think that a girl can't be a Plumber?

Well open this brochure and let me show you different.

How can I become a Plumber

When you walk in the door at My Plumber your Training begins immediately. You do the cleaning, you run all over the place getting parts and you dig a few ditches.

Then when we are very sure that you can do these important task without complaining about it school starts and the second phase of your training begins.

We watch your grades, check on your progress and once you are ready we put you into training with a plumbing professional with years of experience.

When you are ready and not a day before. We put you in a truck of your own and send you out to be a My Plumber professional.

That is how you become a Plumber. By working hard and earning your chance.

Master Plumbers can make upwards of $100,000. a year

Can a Girl become a Plumber?

Absolutely. In fact the first woman to ever become a Master Plumber was Miss Lillian Baumbach. She was 21 years old and she lived right here in Northern Virginia.

She used that knowledge to manage her fathers plumbing company. If you do a search on her name on line you will find a lot of interesting facts about her life.

So, while not a lot of women choose plumbing as a career, the ones who do reap incredible rewards.

What is so important about Plumbing?

Imagine that you live in a world where everyone throws their waste water out the window every morning. It's happened in history.

Whole cities where people did exactly that. It was considered polite to yell gardeloo so people knew to cover their heads. Without Plumbers we would still live in that world.

A beginning Plumber starts out at roughly $40,000 his first year.
